Profile:

Over the past 40 years, Howard has acted as general counsel to a wealth of companies, helping his clients tackle challenges and grow their businesses, building many long-lasting relationships along the way. His core strengths focus on business, including employment law, mergers, sales and acquisitions, transactions, entity advice, business and succession planning as well as protection of intellectual property assets. By understanding his clients' interests and goals, he acts as an advisor to people who trust his judgment and guidance. His counsel is sought by attorneys leaving and arriving at law firms. As a past President of our local Montgomery County Bar Association, and as a former law clerk to Judge David L. Calhoun, Montgomery County courthouse, Howard has been afforded insight into the courts and the processes and procedures. He has been recognized for his leadership by the Business Law Section of the Maryland State Bar Association, for which he will be chair in 2020. His goal is to provide strategic analysis, committing to a plan of action for every client matter and to pursue excellence and obtain the best possible results for his clients.
