Practice Areas

Commercial & Construction Litigation, Family Law

Profile:

Elyse L. Strickland is a Partner with McMillan Metro, P.C. with areas of expertise in Commercial & Construction Litigation and Family Law. In her time as a family law attorney, she has handled a wide variety of cases including legal issues such as business valuation, property distribution, alimony, child support, custody and visitation. She is trained as a family law mediator and collaborative lawyer and certified as a “best interest” attorney. As a commercial litigator, Elyse has represented an array of business clients, from individuals to publicly traded corporations and small business entities. Her extensive litigation experience has included issues such as shareholder disputes; breach of contract cases; construction litigation; and employment litigation, including the enforceability of non-compete provisions, non-solicitation provisions and trade secrets. She is also well-known in the factoring industry as a result of her years of practice in representing companies who purchase payment streams, such as structured settlement payments and lottery winnings. Elyse maintains a practical approach to resolving conflicts and she works to help clients manage risks and achieve effective and sensible solutions to their legal challenges.
