Profile:

Andrew M. Friedman is an Associate with McMillan Metro, P.C. with a focus on estate planning and estate administration. He guides individuals and couples through all aspects of estate planning including drafting wills, trusts, powers of attorney, and other testamentary solutions. He also assists personal representatives and trustees through probate and trust administration. Prior to McMillan Metro, he worked as an estate and tax planning attorney at a boutique D.C. firm in Dupont Circle. Andrew's passion for estate planning stems from his love of people and his first-hand experience witnessing the meaningful value this work brings to so many clients' lives. He has worked with hundreds of clients with various planning needs, including:

- Individuals and couples, whether married or not.
- Same-sex couples looking to protect their partners and families.
- Parents providing for their children, or beneficiaries with special needs.
- Philanthropists who want to plan gifts to their favorite charities.
- Older adults planning for their futures.
- Straight-forward estate planning goals and more sophisticated tax planning objectives.
- People who want to make things as organized and easy as possible for themselves and their family and friends.

His clients know that they can expect Andrew's personal attention toward their goals and creative solutions to their concerns.
